FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR

NO. 13

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY MARCH 1, 1935

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—A flood of bills, more than 700, has engulfed the Ninety-first General Assembly. In face of the task of deciding on the many measures, the powerful Senate rules committee has voted in favor of adjournment of the Assembly on March 15, which if the adjournment takes place, will mean that much important legislation will be put off until special sessions are held late this year. As usual, about two-thirds of the proposed enactments were introduced in the House of Representatives. The bills when passed by the Senate and House go to Governor Martin L. Davey for his veto or signature, and if signed by him they are sent to Secretary of State George S. Myers for permanent filing.

Lloyd W. Reese, state high school supervisor for the Department of Education, was in Atlantic City this week attending the annual convention of the National Association of High School Supervisors and Directors, of which he is president. Several sessions of the organization were devoted to discussion of the national centenary celebration of the American high school, the first of which was Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass., established in 1635. Mr. Reese, in cooperation with State Librarian Paul A. T. Noon, has compiled a list of 250 reference books on secondary education, which will be sent to all Ohio high school superintendents and principals for use in conjunction with the centenary activities of individual schools throughout the state. The publications may be obtained at the State Library.

The report on the state-wide rural electrification survey of the state relief commission recommends the construction of 3,040 miles of electric power lines at a cost of $3,648,000 in 680 rural townships in 76 of Ohio's 88 counties. It was announced by State Relief Director W. A. Walls. F. E. R. A. officials in Washington requested that the survey be made in order to obtain data on the necessity and feasibility of constructing new and additional power lines in rural areas not now served adequately. The report stated that there is no need for extra electrical facilities in twelve counties, namely Athens, Cuyahoga, Gallia, Hamilton, Harrison, Henry, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Monroe, Tuscarawas and Vinton.

Seed of a new type of long-life sweet clover, which has been developed after ten years of research by Professor J. B. Park of the department of agronomy, Ohio State university, has been requested by persons in all sections of the United States and by many Canadians and numerous Europeans. The new species of clover is more vigorous and it lives from two to three weeks longer than the other types. It will therefore provide pasture at the time most needed, in the late summer. Only five bushels of the seed are in existence, and it will be used in various parts of the world for experimental purposes, Professor Park said.

A warning against an influenza epidemic has been sounded by the State Department of Health. It was urged that every cold be regarded as a possible forerunner of influenza, and that a physician be consulted. More cases of influenza have been reported since January 1 than during the entire year 1934. The total from January 1 to February 11 was 2,424 cases; last year's twelve-month total was 2,377. The health department pointed out that the figures represent but a small fraction of the actual cases "because influenza is a disease for which medical attention is, unfortunately, seldom sought."

FARM HOME BURNS
Frank Cordell, tenant farmer residing near London, and his wife and three children are homeless since Sunday. While at church the home burned with all contents, including $500 worth of new furniture purchased and delivered to their home on Saturday. Mr. Cordell is homeless, penniless with no insurance on his home.

HORSE POPULATION REDUCED
The number of horses on farms in Ohio has been reduced from 311,000 in 1930 to 261,000 during 1934, a decrease of 45 per cent in 14 years, L. P. McCann, extension specialist, Ohio State University, told a group of farmers of Union County in a meeting here.

Mr. McCann said this condition was due in part to the fact that the death rate of farm work horses has been greater than the colt birth rate.

BETTER BE CAUTIOUS NOW THAN SORRY LATER
It has come to our attention that certain church organizations are selling merchandise through children from door to door. In as much as this merchandise is not purchased directly by the organization, but is sold on commission basis, is taxable. Out of state concerns are trying to edge in on business in different communities through church organizations. Children selling such merchandise are not exempt from the vendor's license and must collect a tax on all articles selling above 25 cents. Those in charge of church organizations backing the sale of foreign merchandise would do well to get posted on the tax law.

Jamestown Team County Champions

Jamestown takes the county honor in the basketball tournament which closed Saturday night, giving the dopest quite a surprise as Beaver Creek Twp. was being picked as the winner of the Class B championship. It was a nip and tuck game between Jamestown and Beaver Creek, the score being 22 to 20 in favor of Jamestown. Jamestown won the title first in 1922 and has failed to click on championship until Saturday.

The preliminary of the finals was the contest between Beaver Creek and Bryan of Yellow Springs. It was the only feminine game but it added much interest. Beaver Creek won by a score of 20 to 18.

Cedarville, the Silver Creek team, with a trophy at the end of the tournament, Silver Creek and Beaver Creek will represent Greene county in the Class B section tournament.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Editor:—The following addressed to the Governor and Legislature will be of interest to your readers.

The Constitution of Ohio specifically directs that the Governor "shall communicate at every session by message to the General Assembly, the condition of the State, and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient."

The Constitution also grants the people the right, "to instruct their representatives; and to petition the General Assembly for redress of grievances."

We the executive committee of The Ohio Tax Limitation League do not wish to specifically petition the General Assembly nor to categorically "instruct" the members thereof. We do wish to call the attention of the Governor and the members of the General Assembly to certain conditions of injustice and unnecessary burdens which sorely afflict many citizens of the state, and suggest the initial steps for remedying these conditions.

Increasing Cost of Government.
We desire to call attention to the ever-increasing cost of government and public service.

In 1900 the cost of government and public service in Ohio was approximately $46,700,000 or $11.20 per capita.

In 1920, $183,260,000 or $31.80 per capita.
In 1930, $418,630,000 or $63.20 per capita.

The public debts of the subdivisions in Ohio have increased from $96,200,000 or $23.00 per capita in 1900 to $976,900,000 or $147.00 per capita in 1930.

Continuing to increase taxes TWELVE times as fast as population, while the people's income is decreasing leads to chaos.

"Passing the Buck"
When taxpayers have suggested economy in local expenditures they have been told that the expenditures were being made in accordance with the laws passed by the General Assembly, and advised to "See their legislators."

When they have approached members of the General Assembly they have been told, "Your local officials have. See your local officials. We are not willing."

Some of our present laws have made local economy difficult and extravagance easy.

As an example, previous to 1906 the law encouraged economy in clerical work in the county offices. The County Officers' Salary Law passed in 1906 set no limit to expenditures for clerical help.

In the ten years previous to that law the annual cost for clerical help in the six principal offices in the twenty-eight counties had increased $169,808. In the first ten years after the passage of that law the increase was $692,598 and in the second ten years ending in 1926 the increase in the annual cost was $3,395,714.

The laws have allowed this cost to increase TWELVE times as fast as the population served. (See tabulation.)

During the past few years public employees have been better off than ever, because the laws kept their compensation on the prosperity basis, with their living expenses on a depression basis. Should not their compensation as well as other costs of government vary with the people's ability to pay? Should not we all share the effects of prosperity and depression?

Nepotism, Waste and Graft
Functions and departments of government have been increased far beyond the needs of the people or their ability to pay.

Naturally each ambitious official or employee considers his department of prime importance and if given the opportunity, enlarges its functions and cost. With the appointing power exercised in favor of relatives and friends Nepotism has become serious.

The complicated system of government has increased the opportunities for waste and graft.

Unfair Distribution
The tax burden has become so great that many business and many individuals are unable to pay their taxes and have enough left for those ordinary expenditures on which business activity and prosperity depend.

Besides being too great the burden is unfairly distributed. Much has been said about taxing according to ability to pay but during the last few years we have assessed property taxes greater than the entire income of the property. Many farmers and small home owners have been assessed more than they could possibly pay; while thousands of persons with incomes many times as great have been assessed nothing. Moreover

OHIO RECOVERY LAW HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Common Pleas Judge Frank M. Cleveland, Wilmington, held the Ohio Recovery Act as unconstitutional in sustaining a demurrer filed by counsel for J. R. Bryson, Wilmington barber, charged with violation of the code of fair competition of the barber industry in Ohio. Judge Cleveland held the act "was an unwarranted delegation of legislative powers."

Among other things Bryson was charged with keeping his place of business open on January 1, a holiday. The action was brought against Bryson by Prosecuting Attorney George L. Schilling, at the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker.

The law under which Judge Cleveland held unconstitutional was passed by the legislature at the demand of former Governor White. The Court held that only the state legislature has the constitutional right to pass legislation and provide penalty for violation and not the governor nor any agent or commission he might appoint.

Funds Received By State-Aid Schools

Money is at hand for Greene County's five state-aid school districts, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent.

These districts have lately received state aid totaling $14,896, sufficient to wipe out operating deficits incurred during the first four months of the present school term, up to January.

Sums allocated to each district are: Cedarville, $1,356; Sugar Creek, $6,477; Miami, $4,092; Clifton, $2,228; and Cane Creek, $745.

Included in the state funds were several special allowances for rehabilitation purposes. The Clifton district received $400 extra to repair a school garage, the Sugar Creek district was awarded $520 additional to repair a furnace and weather strip the school building, and the Miami district received $300 extra for repairs to the Dayton St. building in Yellow Springs.

Supt. Aultman declared the state has given assurance the state-aid districts will be taken care of somehow until sales tax revenue comes to their rescue. He also disclosed the state is considering a plan to lower eligibility requirements of school districts for state aid, involving a lesser property rate.

Newspaper Publisher to Address Fish Game

Dave Roberts, Batavia newspaper publisher and writer on outdoor subjects, who is prominently mentioned as probable choice of Gov. Davey for state conservation commissioner, has consented to address the Greene County Fish and Game association at a program tentatively scheduled for March 19.

The entertainment planned for the opera house will be substituted, for financial reasons, for the annual community banquet which has featured the association's affairs for several years.

XENIA BARBERSHOP MOVES

The popular barbershop operated by C. Harvey Coate in the Allen building, Xenia, has been moved to the Steele building on North Detroit, that city. Mr. Coate now has one of the most modern and commodious barbershops in the county.

SUPPORT BULKLEY AND DONAHEY IN SENATE

Certain forces in the Roosevelt administration, as well as unnamed aid societies, are trying to manufacture a revolt on the part of citizens in the country against all Senators that refused to vote for the Roosevelt so-called four billion eight hundred million work-relief bill. Such a method as has been outlined is nothing short of political blackmail against your elected representatives in the highest legislative body in the country. It matters not what your political belief may be, each of the Ohio Senators, Bulkley and Donahey, must face such a firing line. It is also proof that the Roosevelt administration does not even permit members of Congress elected as Democrats to have an opinion of their own, nor must they even dare to represent the views of their constituents.

We have it from one of the leading Democrats in this section of Ohio, one that has a large following not only in his own party, but has had liberal support at times at the polls from Republicans. He is opposed to the Roosevelt program and when we asked him if he cared to give his reasons why, he freely stated that no president, regardless of party, had a moral right to ask for unlimited control of such a sum. Moreover, he intimated that he doubted if ever a man existed that could spend such a sum, or be responsible for it being spent honestly and faithfully. He is urging his Democratic friends to write and urge both Ohio Senators to stand pat.

With a leading Democrat taking such a position one could not help feel something was back of the four billion proposal Roosevelt wants, other than what has been given the public. A pointed question was asked and startling as it may be, the answer implied that little of the sum would ever go towards any work-relief program that did not have a political string tied to it. We also drew the information that a national election was two years distant and with a couple of the four billion held back, it would easily supplant the need of the ordinary campaign fund. This leading Ohio Democrat was strong for Roosevelt's election two years ago but he finds little common ground for the President at this time due to his policy as directly against traditional Democratic belief from the time of Jefferson to Wilson.

Evidently Roosevelt's re-election is of secondary importance—present Communist-Socialistic tendency being supplanted for promises of the party platform. His view now is "What of the future of the party?" The answer is implied in the proposed use of a billion or more dollars to purchase the electorate by all sorts of methods that even Santa Claus has never dreamed of or that New York Tammany could hope for.

Probably Ohio's two Democratic Senators are thinking the future of the party for neither have yet shown much sympathy for the Roosevelt Socialistic movement. Their vote against the work-relief bill may have been in the interest of party honor. Their vote also was against billions of government inflation bonds that will wreck the nation. Their vote was in support of securing life insurance and fire insurance companies where assets belonging to policy holders would wilt under inflation. Their vote was security for savings accounts in banks and building and loans. How could two Senators faithfully represent such an electorate as can be found in Ohio and vote otherwise than against the four billion eight hundred million inflation graft?

Send a card or letter to Senators Bulkley and Donahey urging them to stand by their original vote. Republicans as well as all Jefferson Democrats should stand shoulder to shoulder with the Ohio Senators.

PITY FOR THOSE DEPENDING ON FERA PAY

If you want to get a cross-section of how the "Forgotten Man" class feels towards the Roosevelt administration, make a journey to the Greene county courthouse some morning when several hundred relief workers mill around, waiting on their pay which is two weeks overdue.

For more than two weeks this class of unemployed has waited for their pay checks which have been promised time after time. In the meantime some 200 employees at state headquarters that draw annual pay over $500,000 take their good natured time. For months there has been much criticism against the manner in which the state department has been operated and just as much against county organizations, that must take orders from the political relief dispensers.

If there ever was an organization set-up so overloaded with employees, it has been the relief organization in state and counties in Ohio. No industrial organization could survive such an overhead expense. As the relief organization stands in Ohio today office appointees are eating up a large percent of funds intended for those in actual relief.

We have discovered that certain workers in various headquarters are required to make out a lot of red-tape reports that require at least fifty per cent of their time, instead of being out investigating the need of those out of employment. We have had our attention called to the fact families badly in need of coal could not get it when a car of state relief coal stood on track for days within sight of many of the homes that were cold. Meantime these families paced back and forth each day up and down the railroad trying to pick up a bucket of coal that might have fallen from loaded coal cars.

As far as the Greene county organization is concerned we have good reason to believe that more results could be given by those who are conscientiously trying to do their job if the state would only use a little common sense and cut out about ninety percent of what is nothing more than red tape. We know from actual experience in this county, and we get the same reports of other counties, that more money is going to overhead operation than is necessary. In many instances the state has tried to force county authorities to provide funds for equipment that cannot be found in county offices.

The whole relief program is doomed to failure and would be discontinued at once if the average citizen was aware of what was being done with his tax dollar. The public still is in the mood to continue public aid in various forms to those in need but there is no one that can guarantee a continuance of relief once the public rebels against the present program of operation.

Eliminate the "brain-trust" idea of management even for handling public relief and exercise some good common horse-sense. More and greater service can be given those in need and the public will have a higher appreciation of those in authority. Gov. Davey is being criticised for some things he had done in connection with the state organization. We have felt for months some changes were needed in state headquarters and the Governor has made one. His next order should be to eliminate some of the red-tape that is causing much friction in every county.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," then King Franklin, nothing before and nothing afterwards, says the NRA version of the King James version of the first chapter of Genesis. The King as the leader of the forces of righteousness marched to the gates of the Garden of Eden and found Hugh Johnson garbed in purple and gold. The King was incensed and immediately stripped him of his raiment and placed Donald Richberg in charge. The King commanded a search of the Garden as to who else might be feasting on the fruits and enjoying the fragrance of the lotus buds and how they came there and whence their origin. Richberg under a heavy silver crown and red robe late one evening found Lady Perkins, Bill Green and John Lewis under a fig tree eating of the forbidden fruit. Reporting to his King the three were ordered into court and rather than have scandal written into the record, immediately banished Green and Lewis to join Johnson out in a cold sinful world. Later two unknowns, Wallace and Tugwell, were discovered in the Garden, the former herding a lone-some lamb and the latter picking insects from the fruit. Under orders from the King, Wallace was commanded to let no one fleece the lamb and Tugwell was made the King's official taster, that the King might be assured that all he ate would do him no harm. The Garden of Eden having grown out of date with the King, who had visions of more worlds to conquer, set out to reform a new world and give freedom to the "forgotten man." Settling for a time on a new estate on the banks of the Hudson, noted for its polo ponies, descendants of a wigwam named Tammany, were converted and sent to all quarters to preach the gospel and search for the oppressed "forgotten man." But one could be found, yet oppressed as he was he held much gold and silver; owned vast estates and roamed the high seas in a costly yacht. The King was greatly impressed with the "forgotten man," and the lonesome Manhattanite named Vanderbilt became a consort of the King. Once on a voyage the King discovered an unknown tribe on the banks of the Potomac that had not been observing the code of the NRA revised version. Rather than permit continued sinful waste orders were given Richberg, Wallace and Tugwell, rich in experience in the Garden of Eden, to take charge, continue the search of other "forgotten men," take command of animal and grain food, while one Farley of the wigwam, a new convert that had won many souls on Manhattan, would control things official, casting suspicion on all the money changers in the temple. The King has been pleased to record other "forgotten men" such as makers of gasoline chariots, rum and wine and implements of war.

A vote of thanks should be extended Senators Bulkley and Donahey for opposing the four billion dollar so-called work relief bill. Such a thing could not possibly be honest and be handled by any one man. It simply is not good business. The Herald has forwarded letters to both Senators commending them on their stand and urging them to stand firm in the future against such raids on the American purse.

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt jumps from one thing to another and evidently if we judge Democratic comment is not adding to the popularity of the administration. Drawing $4000 for a broadcast advertising a certain make of shoes puts her almost in the "unforgotten woman" list. Several days ago she gave the New York Times an interview on the Hauptmann-Lindberg murder trial in which she passed expert opinion and concluded by stating she did not see how an innocent man could expect a fair trial with circumstantial evidence playing so prominent part. Her statement caused critical comment everywhere but a radio news broadcaster came to her rescue stating she had been misquoted. This was hardly off the air until the D. A. R. national organization had a mixup over the First Lady who had been listed as a "Red." Walter Winchell can take the air again to settle that dispute. The New York Times Washington correspondent refused to give his paper an account that was not true and broke with the President who made one of his "off the record" statements, not for publication. Since the Times could not be bluffed, although originally a supporter of the President, the correspondent is no longer a caller at the White House for conferences with other newspapermen.

In our last issue we related as to how much wheat and oats were being imported in this country by the national administration while farmers have been paid for reducing crops. Now comes other reports that will be of interest to butter and egg producers. Both had reached the profit stage to producers but city consumers continued to press on Washington that the cost of living was out of reason. To reduce the cost of every day foods the administration several days ago permitted the importation of huge quantities of butter and eggs. The net result is that both eggs and butter have been on a gradual decline the past week. It is a neat way to reduce the cost of living to city consumers but farm interests pay the bill in being forced to accept lower prices for farm produce.

It is surprising to note how the heads of the leading universities are withdrawing members of their faculty that have been loaned to the various government divisions under the new deal. For a time it was popular to have one or more members of a faculty on a government job representing the new deal. President Glenn Frank, Wisconsin University, was the first to leave the Roosevelt procession, and he has withdrawn all members of his faculty loaned for government service. Last week Yale University recalled its faculty members. The reaction from the "brain-trust" theory of government has set university heads to thinking. Protestants from students and parents has caused the college heads to now look with much suspicion on what has been done in Washington. Even President Rightmire of O.S.U. has taken the tip and faculty members must give up their government assignments by July first or be taken from the O.S.U. faculty. There is a lurking suspicion even among educators, and particularly among Democratic leaders, that the New Deal will blow up as every department under Roosevelt has its share of jealous squabbles. Moreover university heads are now convinced that most of the Roosevelt program is not sound and that much danger lies ahead. The "brain trust" has been anything but an asset for the reputation of universities.

Jamestown made a good start in securing a municipal waterworks system. Much of the legal work has been completed by the solicitor, Marcus Shoup, and promise of government aid on the project has been secured. The Jamestown village council has passed much of the legal legislation required but now a stumbling block has been reached, two members have taken a reverse stand on the issue. To let work stop on the program at this time means a great loss to the village. It is said 175 property owners have signed up for the water service. If the property owners follow the plan adopted in Cedarville there is yet a chance for Jamestown to get a municipal waterworks.

Some days ago while a snow was blanketing all out of doors one mentioned that it would be interesting to see a revival of sleigh racing on the improved Xenia avenue. This statement took us back to the days when a good snow meant some excellent racing, for in those days there were many snow steppers that amused large crowds. We recall Andrew Jackson, W. H. Owens, John Harrison, W. L. Marshall, Dave Tarbox, O. T. Wolford and many others that could be named, out in their cutters for a speed feat on the avenue.

Liming Effect Over 30 Years Observed

Continuous Wooster Experiment Points to Benefits of Liming Soil

Over a period of 30 years the effect of liming the soil has been observed in a continuous experiment under way at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster.

Thirty years ago a series of five sections, or plots, was set aside for growing crops in a 5-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat, clover, and timothy. One-half of each section was limed, while the other half received no lime. The average yield of corn for the original plot during the 10 years preceding the experiment was 32 bushels an acre. Corn yields on the unlimed plots dropped to 8 bushels, or to 25 per cent of the original yield. From the limed soils, the yields have been three times this large, in the last 15 years.

Similarly, the yields of oats, wheat, clover and timothy have fallen to 30 per cent.

Over the 30 years limestone has been applied at the rate of two tons to the acre on the corn crop, or once in the rotation period.

A third set of plots received a moderate application of fertilizer as well as lime, which resulted in still larger yields.

Historical Mileposts Of Ohio

By C. S. Van Tassel
(Copyrighted)

Othniel Looker, who was Speaker of the State Senate, became acting Governor of Ohio from March 25, 1814 to December 8, 1814, by reason of the resignation of Governor Return Jonathan Meigs, Jr., to become Postmaster-General in the Cabinet of President Madison. Looker was consequently a candidate for Governor against Thomas Worthington, then in the United States Senate, at the fall election of 1814, but received only 6,171 votes to 15,879 votes for Worthington.

Resigning as Senator, Worthington was inaugurated Governor December 8, the thirteenth session of the General Assembly having opened December 6, 1814 and adjourned February 10, 1815. The war was still a major subject of attention.

The war had cost the nation about eighty million dollars and the national government levied another direct tax on the State, and under the authority of the Legislature, nearly $180,000 was borrowed from the various banks to meet the assessment. According to Galbreath's History of Ohio, the State had contributed 23,951 soldiers to the War, being one-third of the entire white male population of Ohio above the age of twenty-one and more than one-half of those of military age. It was nearly fifteen percent of all the soldiers in the War of 1812 contributed by the whole nation.

It was at this session of the General Assembly that the banking law was passed, which brought the celebrated conflict between the State of Ohio and the Bank of the United States.

Governor Worthington issued a Thanksgiving proclamation fixing upon Friday, March 31, 1815, as a day of thanksgiving for the restoration of peace "to our beloved country."

The tide of immigration now began to pour into Ohio, and the question of opening up the lands of the Northwest part of the State for settlement, by treaties with the Indian occupants, was an important problem for discussion. Engineers sent to survey the military boundary lines for the Michigan territory were forbidden to perform their work by the Indians, who being arrayed on the side of the British, still considered they had not made peace.

Potato Control Plan Proposed

Details of the proposed national program for potato growers were brought to the potato section meetings at Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University last Thursday by Hugh B. Tabb, editor of The Potato World.

The proposals, he said, were advanced by a committee representing producers from 16 states. The committee asked the AAA to assist in drafting a bill which the committee will submit to Congress.

It was proposed by the committee, Tabb said, that potatoes be made a basic commodity under the Farm Act, and that control legislation be enacted similar to the Kees-Smith Act which affects marketing of tobacco.

Should the recommendations of the advisory committee be enacted into law, the secretary of agriculture would be charged with determining the advisable size of the potato crop to be marketed each year, with a view towards establishing and maintaining a parity price level for potatoes.

Basis of acreage allotments to states would be flexible, using a production average computed from the three highest yields and acreages of the 5-year period of 1920 through 1924.

Allotments to individual growers would be based on state allotments. A tax of half-cent a pound on all potatoes not covered by tax exempt certificates would be levied.

All potatoes would be marketed in closed packages.

There would be provisions for transfer of tax exempting certificates, and for a reserve for new growers.

After a year of operation the plan would be submitted to a referendum of growers.

May Abandon Three One-Room Schools

A plan to abandon the three remaining one-room grade schools in Silvercreek Twp., in favor of consolidation was revealed Wednesday by township school board.

The schools involved are Myers, ZaZa and Oak Knoll.

Whereas there were seventy-four of the "little red school houses" in Greene County in 1920, now only thirteen remain in use.

Besides the three located in Silvercreek Twp., the remaining ten are in Xenia Twp. Those in this township are Old Town, Anderson, Old Town Run, Collins, East Point, Lauman, Mitchell, Hilltop, Rural Home and White Chapel.

Four other grade schools in Xenia Twp., organized on the two-room plan are Goss, Jasper, Union and the County Children's Home.

Vendors Under the New Sales Tax

Who frequently or only occasionally sell merchandise that is exempt from sales tax need blanks for his purchaser to sign.

The Herald has prepared these blanks and they can be bought in small pads at a very nominal cost. They are approved by the State Tax Commission.

Purchasers who know that certain merchandise they buy is tax free will want to have some of these blanks to insure his right to purchase without paying the tax.

One drive is in the form of a petition; another drive is a bill introduced by Sen. Davis of Cleveland to appropriate three millions of dollars for parochial schools and one million dollars for denominational college. The latter part of this bill is a subterfuge to get some Protestant votes. We are asked to write to our senator and representative, 'urging them to vote against this proposed appropriation in whatever form it takes.'"

Honor Roll

Report cards for the fourth grading period will be issued next Wednesday. Since there have been so many pupils absent during this six-week period, most of the class work is incomplete. There will be no honor roll published for this time, as it seems unfair to the many boys and girls who are handicapped by illness.

Attendance Improved

Although there are many pupils and two teachers still absent, the attendance has improved a great deal this week.

Mrs. Malone Is Speaker

Mrs. George Malone, State Director of the Children of the American Revolution, was the speaker for the chapel program this week. Mrs. Malone, whose home is in Dayton, told in detail the origin and purpose of the organization of which she is a state official. Her talk, which had been originally planned for Washington's Birthday, appropriately centered about the life of the first President.

The Home Economics Club had charge of the devotional program which was announced by Betty Jane Judy. Dorothy Stover read a portion of Scripture, and Mr. Reed led in group singing.

Scholarship Tests

The Ohio general scholarship test for seniors will be given Saturday, March 23, at Xenia Central High School. The entrants for the test must be in the upper twenty-five percent of their class with respect to grades. Eleven members of the local senior class are eligible to enter the contest.

County certificates of award will be presented to the students placing among the first ten in the county, and all others in the upper twenty-five percent of the group will receive certificates of honorable mention. District awards will be presented to the high ten per cent in the district, and state certificates to the high one per cent of the state.

On April 8, general scholarship tests will be given in fifteen subjects. Opportunity has been given to all students to enter in the class elimination. The two students having the highest scores in each class will comprise a school team which will represent Cedarville in the county elimination. The two highest persons in each subject will make up a county team, which will enter in the district test. Awards will be given to those ranking high in both district and state.

Herbert Lewis Improved
The many friends of Herbert Lewis are glad to hear that his improved

SENATE NOT TO BE FORCED

The legislation continuing the Ohio Relief organization is now held up in the Senate for further investigation. An effort has been made to railroad the bill on a plea of meeting government requirements. Legislators are suspicious of how and where the relief funds are being spent.

these assessed nothing have frequently been assessed in demanding excessive public services.

Officials with salaries of several thousand dollars per year, exempt from taxation, have freely suggested new taxes for other people, people already overburdened, to pay.

Antiquated System

We have gotten into the present deplorable tax situation by extravagant spending and by holding too long to a taxation method designed for the early days of the state when everyone who could and justly should pay taxes owned property.

Nowadays many persons with greater than average incomes, receiving much benefit from public services, own little or no taxable property.

Property ownership alone is no longer a fair criterion of one's duty or ability to pay taxes.

Tax Limitation

As a step toward tax justice and economy in government the people of Ohio passed the Tax Limitation Amendment at the November election in 1933, to limit property taxes beginning December 1934.

Many groups of tax-spenders disregarded this mandate of the people for efficiency in government and immediately began to demand increased spending, and to recommend new taxes. Groups of potential new tax-payers began to explain why they should not pay taxes. The pleas of all these groups could readily be condensed to:

"GET THE REVENUE BUT DON'T TAX US."

In spite of the mandate of the people for REDUCTION, laws have been passed to replace the $35,000,000 taken off by the Tax Limit Amendment with $30,000,000 new taxes.

We still have the same antiquated taxation system, penalizing thrift, plus a few stop gap nuisance measures.

The sales and liquid fuel taxes will bear most heavily on those intended to be relieved by the Limitation Amendment. They will in many cases be as seriously burdened as before. Others will have new burdens.

EXTRAVAGANCE NOT ECONOMY HAS BEEN PROVIDED FOR.

Recommendations

We recommend that the present system or lack of system, bad as it is, be allowed to operate during the present year and that during that time the Ninety-first General Assembly construct an entirely new system designed to (1) Reduce the tax burden to an amount the people can justly should pay, and (2) Distribute the burden fairly.

This most important work will consist of two parts:

FIRST—To construct State and local governments on lines of efficiency and economy, by the elimination of unnecessary activities and consolidation of others.

Many of the higher official salaries should be reduced. Larger salaries in public offices do not necessarily mean better service.

Persons of the proper type for public office will gladly serve for one or two terms at moderate salaries. Those fortunate enough to command large private incomes can easily afford to do so, and those with ordinary incomes in private life will be making no financial sacrifice.

George Washington, declined pay for his services, merely asked reimbursement for his necessary expenses. These is the classified service have the advantage of retirement allowance and can justly be expected to serve for salaries equal to what they can obtain in private life.

However we believe in good pay for good service, both in public and private life. Economy must be secured by efficiency. Cost of government can be reduced without injustice to employees.

SECOND—The system based on, GET THE REVENUE BUT DON'T TAX US" must be abolished and a system installed which will require from everyone for support of government A FAIR PORTION OF WHAT HE RECEIVES EITHER FROM WHAT HE OWNS OR WHAT HE DOES. A system with no slackers.

Public Debt

The burden of debt that rests on many subdivisions of the State is a serious obstacle to an ideal taxation system.

To gradually remove this obstacle and place public finance on a firm and equitable basis we recommend that the people be given an opportunity at the next general election to amend the Constitution of Ohio so that all taxes on property taxed according to value shall be devoted to paying bonded indebtedness; that the rate shall not exceed one-half of one per cent except in the case of bonded indebtedness previously voted by the people; and that no additional bonded indebtedness shall be incurred which will increase the rate to more than one-half of one per cent and only by a sixty-five per cent vote of the people.

Such an amendment will enable the people to clean up the present deplorable debt situation and thereafter keep public indebtedness within safe limits.

If accompanied by tax laws that distribute the cost of government so that everyone must pay, each according to his ability, tax justice will be secured.

Temperance Notes

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

The wife of the new governor of Nebraska says: "The executive mansion has always been dry," says Mrs. Cochran, "and I intend to keep it so. I am personally dry." Not even light wines or beer will be served. This sounds different from what the first lady of the nation says.

We saw a sixteen year old girl "dead drunk" on the street the past week. What a terrible sight. In the old days the saloon was satisfied to get the men and boys but now they want the women and girls and they are getting them.

The Chicago Daily News, which believed in the repeal of Prohibition, in an editorial last month said:

"The saloon is back in a form more infamously evil than ever before. It is again the ally of vice and corrupt politics."

"It is violating every regulation made for its behavior. It is dispensing bootleg liquor. It is selling at unlawful times. It is selling to minors. It is promoting gambling. It is harboring criminals and prostitutes."

"It is trading for profit in every form of crookedness and indecency. From that indictment some saloons may be excepted, but the exceptions are few enough to be notable."

"There are 14,710 persons, firms and corporations licensed by the federal government to retail liquor in Chicago. Of that number 6815 have no city license. Why?"

Dr. John Haynes Holmes said in his New Year's review:

"Repeal has released a flood of liquor beyond anything known in the last decade."

"Drunk driving has become a momentous problem."

"Bootlegging is with us in undiminished abundance."

"Lawlessness and crime are as rampant as ever."—Ohio State Journal.

Punch, Britain's famous journal of jokes, excluded liquor advertising a few years ago. Its friends prophesied that it would bankrupt the publication. A recent report showed that it has gained 254 new advertising accounts and has the largest circulation in its history—and that in the face of depression.

England, Scotland and Ireland have been noted for their heavy drinking. Whiskies, wines, ales, beers, most everything, is used. There has been a great reduction in drinking since the World War. It is largely due to education.

A nation-wide campaign for temperance is going on in Russia. Vodka is declared to be an enemy of the people. By posters and lectures and alcoholic clinics the fight against strong drink is being prosecuted.

Writing from Toronto a leading citizen says: "Drinking has been reprobated. Crime is increasing. Poverty is prevalent. Lives are being wrecked. Boys and girls are debauched and homes ruined."

Farm Real Estate Market Is Steady

Following Sharp Rise a Year Ago, Little Change Is Noted

Little strengthening in farm land values occurred in Ohio in the second half of the year 1934, following the sharp rise in the first half of the year, it is revealed in an analysis of farm real estate price trends just completed by H. R. Moore of the department of rural economics, the Ohio State University.

Opinion of real estate men, as reflected in reports to Moore, however, indicates that the land market is more active than it was six months ago. But actual sales do not indicate that competition between buyers has become keen enough to cause a significant rise in prices.

Prices over most of the year were remarkably stable, according to the report. The average sales price during the second half of the year was $60.18 an acre, which may be compared with $60.08 for the first half of the year.

Although the number of farm foreclosures has been kept in check by the activities of county farm and home protective committees and by national legislation, these measures have not been sufficient to prevent foreclosures in all instances, according to the investigator.

The number of farms sold at foreclosure sales in the second half of 1934 was 668, compared with 609 in the first half of the year.

Hog prices continued to soar with today's values fully 70 cents higher than a week ago. Receipts were light and buyers were unable to secure numbers for shipments in car lots. The bulk of good and choice 200-260 lb. weights scored the days top of 9.40. Most 160-180 lb. averages netted the producers 9.00 to 9.30. Light lights scaling 140-160 lbs. moved within the range of 8.60 to 9.00.

Packing sows followed the upward trend with best smooth light weights bringing upward to $8.50.

In spite of a record run in the cattle division, prices were considered steady with a week ago. Good steers sold up to 9.50 with choice kinds eligible to sell higher. Desirable heifers cashed at 8.00 with kinds showing a less degree of finish selling downward from 7.75. Fat cows moved at 6.25 downward, while Springers and milkers ranged from $25.00 to $60.00.

Today's heavy run of vealers met a fair demand. Buyers were anxious to buy top offerings; but were reluctant to absorb the supply of unfinished kinds. Good and choice calves moved at 9.25 with the bulk of offerings going at this price.

For Sale—I will sell the residence of the late Rosa Stormont. Private bids will be received. Roger Stormont, Executor, 606-S Harriet Bldg., Dayton, Ohio.

Enjoy a Comfort Zone Ride-

IN THE new Ford V-8, you get the proved V-8 engine—and, in addition, new features that give you a car that meets every 1935 driving need. A single ride will show you how completely the new Ford V-8 does this. Wherever you sit in this new car—at the wheel or in the rear—you will enjoy "front seat riding comfort." It required a major engineering development—the Full-floating Springbase with Comfort Zone Seating—to accomplish this. But the new Ford V-8—all the way through—is a car of major developments. The new clutch enables you to start and shift gears with hardly noticeable foot pressure. The mechanical brakes, likewise, are new in design—easier to apply, yet stronger, longer-lived, surer-holding. The car is longer, wider, with more room for passengers and baggage. It is distinguished inside and out—with luxury upholstery and instrument panel—beautiful streamlining. Everything needed for safety is included—welded all-steel body, low center of gravity, strong axle construction. In addition, Ford provides large, sure-traction tires and safety glass all around at no extra cost. Whatever you want in a car—comfort, safety, speed, power, size, style, dependability, economy—the Ford V-8 for 1935 gives it to you in full measure. Be sure to see it at your nearest Ford dealer's.
